A Grand Day Out

The great and the good (and some of us) were gathered in the garden on June 23rd. Not an ordinary garden, but one designed for the tinkling of tea cups, the chatter of friends, summery sunshine outfits and a shared delight in the company and the hospitality.

Those who were there had a double treat; not just the garden, scented by roses and philadelphus but open access to a house full of lovely things, with a generous invitation to enjoy them, given by the doyenne of the occasion, Rosemary Harward.

There was a raffle, there was tea and delicious cakes and, perhaps best of all, an opportunity to meet friends and old acquaintances. All this under a blue sunny sky.

What a lovely day!
